SECTION-I

BACKGROUND

1. Introduction to National Cybercrime Reporting Portal and Citizen Financial Cybercrime Reporting and Management System

The National Cybercrime Reporting Portal (NCRP) [www.cybercrime.gov.in] was launched in August 2019 by the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) after the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in Prajwala v. Union of India and Ors., Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 3 of 2015 vide its Order dated December 5, 2017, gave directions to Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) to set up a mechanism to prevent and address the issue of circulation of videos related to sexual violence, including rape, gang rape and, child pornography, and to provide a platform for citizens to report such crimes. Subsequently, the scope of the portal was widened to facilitate reporting of all types of cybercrime, including Cyber-Enabled Financial crimes.

The portal has two components: The first is for victims to report cybercrime-related complaints online without needing to visit a police station, and the second component is for police agencies, banks and financial intermediaries, and other stakeholders to monitor and act upon those complaints expeditiously. The second component has a module called the Citizen Financial Cyber Fraud Reporting and Management System (CFCFRMS), which was launched in 2021. It integrates police agencies of the States and UTs with the banks and financial intermediaries and facilitates real-time interventions to prevent defrauded money from leaving the financial system. In the process, it establishes the money trail of the reported amount and creates a valuable repository of data on financial crime and criminals and the associated identifiers.

2. Need for a Standard Operating Procedure (SOP)

CFCFRMS, since it began operations in April 2021, has been able to prevent crime proceeds amounting to ₹ 7,647 Crore out of the reported ₹ 52,969 Crore from going into the hands of cybercriminals from April 2021 to November 2025. However, the amount restored so far is only ₹ 167 Crore, about 2.18% of the total money saved and underscoring the need for devising of simple and expeditious process for an interim custody of the amount put on hold through processes within the legal framework.

CFCFRMS's working has also highlighted the need to address issues related to inappropriate holding of amount, seizure of bank accounts, handling grievances arising out of such actions taken based on CFCFRMS, investigation of the amount put on hold or seized money, hurdles in giving interim custody of amount put on hold, restoring seized amount, the need for precluding unnecessary litigation, protection of victims' rights, need to adopt cost and time efficient processes, threats posed by money mule accounts and ensuring accountability on part of the various stakeholders.

3. Objectives of the Standard Operating Procedure (SOP)

This Standard Operating Procedure seeks to clearly outline the processes to be followed by the Participating Entities (PEs) of the CFCFRMS; Police agencies, Banks, and other Financial Intermediaries (FIs) including Payment System Operators (PSOs), Payment Gateways (PGs), Business Correspondents (BCs), Lending Service Providers, Stock Trading Companies, Mutual Fund Companies, E-commerce companies, Cryptocurrency Exchanges and other PEs offering similar services.

The main objective of the SOP is to establish a fair and transparent system that prescribes a uniform process to be followed by all Participating Entities. It also prescribes procedures to prevent misuse of the system of putting on hold an amount, seizure of an account and any property to help the victims of Cyber-Enabled Financial Crimes (CEFC), and giving interim custody of the amount to the victim and restoration of such property while ensuring accountability of all the participants for their action and inaction and providing avenues for time bound grievance redressal for parties affected by actions taken based on information provided by the system.

It is intended that States and UTs, working with other PEs, follow the SOP and are successful in preventing defrauded money from leaving the financial system, giving interim custody and restoration of the amount to the victim, and, in the process, help create a cybercrime resilient financial ecosystem.

This SOP outlines the principles of proportionality, transparency, fairness and safeguarding the fundamental rights of citizens. Further, Grievance Redressal Mechanism provided, herein, ensures that citizens' essential rights including Right to Livelihood and Right to Privacy are protected.

4. Scope of the Standard Operating Procedure (SOP)

The scope of the SOP covers:

- i) Putting on hold, interim custody and restoration of an amount related to the transactions flagged in the relevant accounts reported on the Citizen Financial Cyber Fraud Reporting and Management System (CFCFRMS).
- ii) Suspension and restoration of digital banking services for the bank accounts suspected to be involved in cybercrime as identified on the basis of CFCFRMS.

- iii) Seizure and release of the bank accounts or other instruments holding money or assets or any property suspected to be involved in cybercrimes as identified on the basis of CFCFRMS.
- iv) Five alternative processes for Interim custody and restoration of the defrauded amount to the victim.
- v) Disposal of unclaimed proceeds of cybercrime.
- vi) Grievance Redressal Mechanism for actions arising out of steps taken by the LEAs and PEs based on information provided by CFCFRMS.

Note: - This SOP is valid only for cybercrime complaints reported on NCRP including 1930 and escalated to CFCFRMS.

5. Guiding Principles for the Standard Operating Procedure (SOP)

- i) Putting on Hold of suspicious transactions and beneficiary account identification reported on CFCFRMS is done to prevent reported amount from being laundered and irretrievably lost in the exercise of powers under S. 168 read with S. 94 BNSS and under S. 106 BNSS. All such requests escalated through CFCFRMS shall be accompanied by notices delivered electronically under the aforementioned provisions.
- ii) LEAs shall exercise due diligence while pushing the complaints received on the NCRP or National Cyber Crime Helpline (1930) to CFCFRMS and shall ensure that only such cases where prima facie an offence of Cyber-Enabled Financial Crime is made out, are pushed immediately. Material supporting the information provided by the complainant should be secured and uploaded onto the portal without delay. Officers pushing the complaints are expected to be careful to preclude motivated or frivolous complaints.

- iii) The mechanism of CFCFRMS is only for CEFCs reported through 1930 or NCRP (cybercrime.gov.in). Any abuse of this system will be strongly discouraged. I4C reserves the right to suspend the accounts noticed for abuse of the system and recommend actions against the concerned persons.
- iv) Orders for Seizure of accounts or any property issued by a Police agency shall be done in the exercise of powers under Section 106 BNSS, Section 31 of the Banning of Unregulated Deposit Schemes Act, 2019 (BUDS Act) wherever applicable, or other extant law and should be done only with respect to an FIR, including an e-FIR and a copy of such FIR/e-FIR shall accompany such orders.
- v) Participating Entities shall take real-time action to put on hold on a reported transaction. For this, banks would need to effect API integrations with the NCRP Portal as suggested by the Department of Financial Services, Government of India and the Reserve Bank of India (RBI).
- vi) All Participating Entities shall follow the prescribed Anti Money Laundering (AML) and Combating the Financing of Terrorism (CFT) norms and take necessary measures, including suspension of digital banking services pending verification of the bona fides of the reported account through Enhanced Due Diligence measures. They shall abide by the relevant RBI circulars or master directions, updated from time to time, and take actions prescribed u/s 12 AA of the PML Act, 2002.
- vii) Account Holders affected by action of put-on hold, suspension of digital banking services, and seizure of bank account or any property may raise grievances through their respective banks or FIs, and such grievances shall be addressed in a prescribed timeframe, as elaborated in Para 10.

- viii) Before issuing an order under Section 106 (3) BNSS, the IOs (Investigating Officers) may conduct verifications with the account holder and their bank and give a reasonable opportunity to submit an explanation for the disputed transaction.
- ix) Officers of LEAs shall ensure judicious use of the platform through continuous monitoring of the orders issued and grievances raised. Unwarranted orders for freezing accounts shall be discouraged, and accountability measures shall be established.
- x) Money lost in CEFCs and held with the banks and FIs, at any layer, can be released to the victim by following any of the processes as which include;
- a) Orders issued under Sections 106(3) BNSS (102(3) of CrPC),
 - b) Orders issued by competent courts under Sections 107, 497, 498 of BNSS (451, 452 CrPC) or 503 of BNSS (457 CrPC) or any other extant law.
 - c) Any process prescribed by jurisdictional High Courts.

“All possible measures should be taken to ensure that the victim is not put to undue hardship in the process. All the stakeholders involved in the interim release of the defrauded amount are expected to rely on CFCFRMS and associated banks' statements of respective account holder, Wherever ambiguities are anticipated, safeguards and judicial interventions are contemplated.”

- xi) In case the balance available in the account reported, is zero or is less than the disputed amount, an action is required to be taken by banks to ensure that prescribed EDD is conducted and measures to prevent further loss through the account are taken. The bank will not be expected to release the money to the victim reporting the disputed transaction, whose amounts have been transferred further. However, the amount put on hold in the bank accounts following subsequent complaints may be released as per the processes mentioned in Para 11 of this SOP, following the due process, to the appropriate victim.

xii) An IO must take into account the possibility of reported accounts being operated without the knowledge or connivance or consent of the account holder and must take action accordingly.

xiii) While deciding as to which victim the amount put on hold or in an account under seizure, belongs, the following principle will be followed for all the processes:

a) Whenever the amount in question can be reasonably attributed to an actual victim, the interim custody may be given through any of the prescribed procedures in this SOP.

b) Whenever such attribution is not possible due to commingling of amounts belonging to different victims, the principle of equitable or pro-rata distribution will be adopted. This is in accordance with the various case laws at Annexure III. Illustrations contained in Annexure V explain this principle.

Crimes directly reported at the Police Stations by the victims should be escalated to on NCRP-CFCFRMS for action by the LEAs and PEs.

6. Process of Complaint Registration and Actioning- NCRP, 1930, and Police Stations

- g) Notices under Section 168 BNSS read with Section 94 BNSS will be sent to all the concerned Banks and FIs for holding the reported amount and updating the details through CFCFRMS. This process will continue till the complete money trail is established and the money reported is put on hold. If the money has exited the financial system, the details of the mode of exit shall be updated. The notice format u/s 168 BNSS read with Section 94 BNSS is attached as Annexure – I.
- h) An email and a SMS regarding the complaint will also be sent to the nodal officer of the concerned bank or FIs for aforesaid action.
- i) An email and a SMS will be sent through the CFCFRMS portal to the State and District Nodal Officers and SHO of the Police Station concerned to register an FIR or e-FIR in compliance with Section 106 BNSS, wherever freezing of accounts or suspension of digital services or interim custody of the reported amount of the victims is contemplated.

In this process, the banks would be initiating the complaint on behalf of their customers. This process is expected to help the victims in reporting the complaints expeditiously and accurately. In due course, provisions will be made to enable complainants to report their complaints through the respective banking app.

6.4 Process of Complaints Registration at the Police Station:

All police stations in the country are enabled to report complaints on CFCFRMS. In case a complainant visits a Police Station and reports an incident of cyber-enabled crime, an authorised officer of the police station should register the complaint on the CFCFRMS apart from taking other prescribed steps. 9.1 Measures to be taken by Banks:

- i. When CFCFRMS notifies a bank or a Financial Intermediary, about a transaction, and if the reported amount or any part thereof is available in the beneficiary account, the bank nodal officer or any officer working on her behalf shall put the amount on hold and update the records as per the direction of LEAs issued under S.168 read with S.94 BNSS and under S.106 BNSS.

If the account is reported multiple times on NCRP-CFCFRMS, Bank shall also suspend digital banking services (such as RTGS, NEFT, IMPS, UPI, AePS, ATM, PPI and operation of cards except physical transaction taking place by visiting branch) of the account or seize the bank account or any property as per the lawful directions received from the LEAs under Section 106 of BNSS or other extant law. Grievances related to action of put on hold or account under seizures effected using the NCRP-CFCFRMS shall be addressed in a time-bound manner by the agencies issuing such directions, with avenues for appeal. To address the grievances, an Online Grievance Redressal Module will be operationalized as part of NCRP-CFCFRMS. DGPs and CPs of the states and Union Territories will establish mechanisms to ensure that grievances raised are attended to and replied to at the earliest and in no case beyond the prescribed time limit. A State/UT-level Grievance Officer of the rank of ADG or IG or DIG and District-Level Grievance Officers of the rank of Addl. SP or Dy SP shall be designated in each State and UT.

Each bank and FI onboarded on CFCFRMS shall also appoint Central and State-level grievance officers to monitor such grievances, as per their internal policies and procedures. They shall also designate branch-level officers who will raise the grievances on behalf of the affected persons. In case of payment banks, and other FIs that do not have branch banking or state-level presence, alternate arrangements can be made to accept, verify, and escalate grievances for redressal. However, for banks having branch banking facilities, customers would need to visit a branch to facilitate the re-verification of KYC information. States, UTs, Banks and FIs shall inform I4C about the details of their mechanisms and grievance officers within a month of publication of this SOP.

10.1 In case of grievances related to the amount put on hold effected by NCRP-CFCFRMS, the following process will be followed:

- a) A person affected by such an action will approach the Bank branch where her account exists or any other designated branch or office. The bank will undertake CDD as prescribed in relevant RBI circulars and Master Directions, updated from time to time and the justifications submitted by the person, exercise Enhanced Due Diligence (EDD) and if convinced about the bonafides of the transaction, submit the grievance to the Grievance Redressal Module of CFCFRMS with the necessary justifications submitted by the aggrieved person. Banks and FIs would be expected to submit such a grievance at the earliest and not beyond 07 calendar days from the day the aggrieved person complains.
- b) The grievance will be assigned by the concerned SHO to the IO or Police officer under intimation to the concerned District Grievance Officer. If there are multiple holds, the grievance will be assigned by the concerned SHOs to the concerned IOs or Police officers under intimation to the District Grievance Officers.
- c) The IO or Police Officer of the case shall verify the grievance. She shall issue a notice (physical or electronic) to the account holder in whose account the reported amount is put on hold to appear for verifications, preferably through a video conference. A representative of the aggrieved person's bank branch (preferably grievance redressal officer) may also be included in the videoconference or otherwise involved with the process of verifications. The account holder or the person raising the grievance on behalf of the account holder should not be called to appear in person before the IO or Police officer, unless deemed to be unavoidable during a course of the investigation, and an FIR or e-

FIR is issued in the case. To the extent possible, videoconferencing should be opted.

- d) For verifications, the IO or Police Officer may also take the assistance of the concerned Police Station of the area where the account holder resides. For this, the CIAR module of the Samanvaya Platform can be used. If satisfied with the verifications and the explanations submitted, he will direct the concerned banks to remove the hold on the reported amount within 15 calendar days of the receipt of the grievance. The Bank or FI concerned shall remove the hold on the reported amount and shall update the same on the Grievance Redressal Module.
- e) If the IO or Police Officer is not satisfied with the explanation submitted by the aggrieved person, she shall submit her remarks on the Grievance Redressal Module within 15 calendar days of raising the grievance by the bank, duly recording the reasons and the same will be communicated to the account holder by SMS/email.
- f) If the IO or Police Officer or the authorised Police Officer doesn't address the grievance raised within a period of 15 calendar days, then on the completion of 15 calendar days, the grievance will be automatically notified to the District Grievance Officer. If the account holder is not satisfied with the orders of the IO or Police Officer, she may file a review request within 15 calendar days of receiving intimation by visiting the designated bank branch, which will then be reviewed by the District Grievance Officer. The reviewing officer will go through the details submitted, reasons offered by the IO or Police Officer, may seek additional information from banks, pass appropriate instructions to the IO or Police Officer and update her decision on the Grievance Redressal Module within 15 calendar days of being notified. As instructed by the District Grievance Officer, the IO or Police Officer shall take appropriate action and update the portal within 2 calendar days. Banks and FIs should furnish the requested information at the earliest and not later than 2 calendar days to enable expeditious disposal of the grievance.

In case no lawful directions regarding continuation or discontinuation of the hold (where money is held in the bank account against any LEA request or court order) are received within 90 calendar days of the grievance being submitted by the bank, then within 15 calendar days before the expiry of these 90 calendar days, the bank will intimate the concerned LEA for removal of the hold, in cases where the hold placed has been contested upon through this grievance redressal mechanism. Further, an SMS will be sent to the concerned SHO or the authorised Police Officer through NCRP. If the amount is not required to be retained in any other case or if there is no petition filed in any court for the release of that amount, and there is no request from the concerned LEA for an extension of the hold period, the bank shall remove the hold, after EDD, on a request made by the account holder and as per instructions of the concerned LEA.

Before carrying out the discontinuation of the hold, intimation will be sent to the SHO at least 15 calendar days before the date of expiry of the 90 calendar days from the date of raising the grievance. The status of the removal of the hold will be updated on CFCFRMS by the Bank. JURISDICTIONAL COURT JUDGMENTS

1. Dr Sajeer v. Reserve Bank of India [2023 KHC Online 661]: -

In this case, the Hon'ble Kerala High Court passed judgment addressing blanket freezing of bank accounts during cybercrime investigations, especially where funds were received by unsuspecting merchants or individuals with no role in the predicate offence. The Court held that freezes must be proportionate and confined only to the specific amounts indicated in police requisitions, rather than immobilizing entire accounts; it also required timely communication by investigating police to banks on whether a partial freeze needs continuation and for how long, to preserve business continuity and public confidence in digital payments.

2. The Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in case of "R. K. Dalmia vs. Delhi Administration" (1962) has opined that the word "property" in the Indian Penal Code (now BNS), when used without qualification (as in Section 405 on criminal breach of trust), is not confined to "movable property" and must be given the widest meaning, encompassing tangible and intangible interests including choses in action and company funds in bank accounts but also intangible assets such as bank accounts, funds, and securities held by financial institutions.

3. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in OPTO Circuits (India) Ltd. v. Axis Bank held that freezing a bank account under Section 17 of the PMLA must strictly comply with the statute's procedural safeguards: the authorized officer must have "reason to believe" based on information, record such reasons in writing, issue a freezing order only where seizure is impracticable, promptly forward reasons and material to the Adjudicating Authority, and within 30 days file for continuation before the Adjudicating Authority; failing these steps vitiates the freezing, warranting de-freezing. The Court clarified that bank accounts alleged to contain proceeds of crime are both “property” and “records,” so freezing them squarely attracts Section 17’s requirements, and reiterated the settled rule that when a statute prescribes a manner of doing an act, it must be done in that manner or not at all.

4. While considering the issue of whether ‘bank accounts’ fall within the scope of Section 102 of the CrPC, it was held by the Hon’ble Supreme Court in State of Maharashtra vs. Tapas D. Neogy, that even bank accounts fall within the phrase ‘any property’ under Section 102 of the CrPC and could therefore be frozen by the investigating authorities, if found to have direct links with the commission of an offence. The property must have a connection with the commission of a crime. For the purpose of Section 102 of the CrPC, the property must be either:

- a) Alleged or suspected to have been stolen; or
- b) Have a nexus between the property and the commission of the crime; or
- c) Therefore, investigating authorities can only freeze bank accounts if the deposit in the account is stolen money or the account is connected with an alleged offence which is under investigation.

5. The Hon’ble Delhi High Court in the case of Ms. Swaran Sabharwal v. Commissioner of Police (1987 SCC OnLine Del 221; 1988 Cri LJ 241) held that police powers under Section 102

CrPC to “seize” property and issue prohibitory orders over bank accounts can be exercised only when the property itself is found in circumstances creating a present suspicion that an offence has been committed; if the bank account is discovered after the offence and investigation has already commenced, mere linkage to an accused without material showing the account as the source of discovering the offence does not justify freezing, and such prohibitory orders are liable to be quashed. The Court stressed procedural safeguards: prompt reporting to the Magistrate, and a clear nexus showing that the discovery of property leads to the discovery of the offence, not vice versa.

6. In “Teesta Atul Setalvad v. State of Gujarat” the petitioner pleaded that the continued seizure of her bank account by the police authority is not valid as it does not amount to be property and is not related to the crime, so her account should be defreezed. The Court after analysing the case ruled that the bank account comes under the realm of Section 102 of CrPC and the same would be counted as property and freezing of bank account by police under Section 102 is valid.

7. Mohammed Saifullah vs. Reserve Bank of India and Others W.P.No.25631 of 2024: In the Mohammed Saifullah v. Reserve Bank of India case, the Madras High Court ruled that freezing an entire bank account due to a cybercrime investigation—without specific justification on the amount or duration—violates fundamental rights related to livelihood and business. The court directed the bank to unfreeze Mohammed Saifullah’s account, which had been frozen due to an investigation involving cryptocurrency transactions. Despite the investigation's focus on a specific amount (Rs. 2,48,835), the entire account balance of Rs. 9,69,580 had been blocked for over a year without adequate notification or explanation to Saifullah case. The court ordered that Saifullah's account be reactivated, allowing him to access his funds, but with a hold of Rs. 2,50,000 to cover any potential future liabilities associated with the ongoing investigation. This decision emphasizes that while authorities have the power to freeze accounts under investigation, it must be exercised responsibly and in a limited scope to avoid undue harm to account holders.

8. In the case of Shento Varghese v. Julfikar Husen and Ors 2024 INSC 407. (Judgment dated 13th May 2024), the Supreme Court examined

- i. What is the implication of non-reporting of the seizure forthwith to the jurisdictional Magistrate as provided under Section 102(3) Cr.P.C.?*
- ii. Does delayed reporting of the seizure to the Magistrate vitiate the seizure order altogether?*

In this case, the accused's bank account was initially frozen on police orders, and although a seizure report was submitted to the Magistrate, it was not done immediately. The accused appealed to the High Court, which ruled in his favour on the grounds that the reporting was not timely. On appeal, however, the Supreme Court clarified the meaning of "forthwith" in this context, interpreting it as "as soon as reasonably possible," recognizing that procedural actions must be prompt but allowing for reasonable delays based on circumstances. The Court noted that unless a strict timeframe is prescribed, actions should be completed within a reasonable period without a rigid formula. Thus, the Supreme Court held that the delayed submission of the seizure report did not vitiate the police's freezing order, emphasizing the need for flexibility in interpreting procedural timelines.

9. In the case of Rakesh P. Sheth and Others v. State (Crl. O.P. No. 19618 of 2016), the Hon'ble Madras High Court, clarified that police power to freeze bank accounts under Section 102 CrPC (now Section 106 BNSS) is well-settled; however, prior intimation to the account holder is not required at the stage of seizure, since advance notice would frustrate the investigation and enable dissipation of suspected proceeds, provided the action is backed by contemporaneous suspicion and is forthwith reported to the Magistrate as mandated by law. At the same time, after freezing, the officer must inform the account holder of the factum of seizure so that alternate arrangements can be made for ongoing obligations, and the affected party may seek appropriate relief for de-freezing before the competent court

10. Madhu K.V. Sub Inspector of Police and others [2020 (5) KLT 483]: In this case, the practice of certain police officers of directing the freezing of accounts without reporting to the Magistrate concerned was deprecated. As rightly observed in this judgment, the police officer acting under Section 102 Cr.P.C cannot be permitted to arrogate to himself an unregulated and unbridled power to freeze the bank account of a person on mere surmise and conjuncture, since such unguarded power may bring about drastic consequences affecting the right to privacy as well as reputation of the account holder.

11. The Hon'ble Supreme Court order in State Bank of India v. Pallabh Bhowmik & Ors. (SLP(C) No. 30677/2024; order dated 3 January 2025) dismissed SBI's challenge to a Gauhati High Court direction to refund the amount lost in unauthorized online transactions, emphasizing that banks bear responsibility to protect customers from fraudulent transactions and should use available technology to detect and prevent such frauds. The Bench noted that the customer had reported the fraud within 24 hours and reiterated that RBI's July 6, 2017 circular on liability for unauthorized electronic transactions applies where no customer negligence is established, while also observing that customers must remain vigilant and not share OTPs; on the facts, there was no reason to disturb the High Court's order.

This ruling has been widely reported as reinforcing bank liability for fraudulent withdrawals and strengthening consumer protection norms in digital banking, with commentary highlighting that banks must compensate victims where negligence is not attributable to the customer and must maintain robust security and monitoring systems.

12. Abdul Azeez v. Union of India & Others (Kerala High Court, 19 November 2025): In this writ petition, the Kerala High Court considered whether a bank may freeze a customer's account solely on the basis of suspicious high-value transactions without any requisition from a law-enforcement agency or court. The petitioner's account had been debit-frozen for over a year by South Indian Bank on the ground that the transactions did not match his declared profile, even though no police or regulatory authority had issued any freeze order and the petitioner had furnished explanations. The Court held to balance customer property rights under Article 300A with the need for fraud prevention, the Court laid down an interim mechanism permitting banks to impose an immediate temporary freeze based on reasonable suspicion, subject to strict safeguards—same-day intimation to the customer and cyber-police, one-week consideration of customer explanation, and a maximum freeze period of three months unless a law-enforcement agency acts.

- 13. Resmi K.R. v. National Cyber Crime Reporting Portal & Ors. (Kerala High Court, 18 Nov 2025): In this writ petition, the petitioner challenged the debit freeze/lien imposed on her ESAF Small Finance Bank account at the request of a Haryana Cyber Crime Police Station. The Kerala High Court held that the matter was squarely governed by earlier decisions in Dr. Sajeer, Nazeer K.T., and Abhiraj Rajan, which clarified the scope of Section 102 CrPC (now Section 106 BNSS) and laid down procedural safeguards for freezing bank accounts.

GLOBAL BEST PRACTICES

1. Freezing and Seizing Assets

Provisional Measures: Authorities must act quickly to freeze accounts before funds are dissipated. For example, under the U.S. Bank Secrecy Act, banks can freeze accounts linked to suspicious activity, often within 24–48 hours of detection.

Legal Orders: In the UK, the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 allows for “restraint orders” to freeze assets pending investigation.

International Cooperation: Use mutual legal assistance treaties (MLATs) to freeze assets in foreign jurisdictions. The UN Convention Against Corruption (UNCAC) Chapter V encourages states to honor foreign freezing requests.

2. Confiscation and Forfeiture

Criminal Confiscation: After a conviction, courts can order the confiscation of criminal proceeds. Singapore’s Corruption, Drug Trafficking and Other Serious Crimes (Confiscation of Benefits) Act allows confiscation of assets tied to crime.

Civil Forfeiture: Non-conviction-based forfeiture (NCBF) enables asset seizure without a criminal conviction, useful when perpetrators are unavailable. The U.S. widely uses NCBF under the Civil Asset Forfeiture Reform Act (CAFRA), as seen in the 1MDB scandal, where over $1 billion in assets were recovered.

Value-Based Confiscation: If specific assets can't be traced, courts can confiscate equivalent value from the criminal's other assets, a practice common in EU countries under the EU Confiscation Directive (2014/42/EU).

3. Distribution to Victims

Pro Rata Distribution: Distribution of funds proportionally based on verified losses. This is a standard practice globally, used in cases like the Bernie Madoff Ponzi scheme, where the U.S. recovered and distributed over $14 billion to victims on pro rata.

Victim Compensation Funds: Establish funds to pool recovered assets for distribution. Australia's Confiscated Assets Account under the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 channels funds to victims and community programs.

Priority for Vulnerable Victims: Adjusted distributions to prioritize vulnerable claimants, as seen in some EU jurisdictions where courts consider the socio-economic impact of losses.

4. Worldwide Organisational Practices:

FATF Recommendations: Recommendation 4 urges countries to have robust confiscation and provisional measures, while Recommendation 38 emphasizes international cooperation for asset recovery.

UNCAC and UNTOC: Both conventions provide frameworks for asset recovery, advocating for victim restitution and cross-border collaboration. UNCAC Article 57 mandates returning assets to legitimate owners and addresses the disposal of confiscated assets. While it does not explicitly mandate "pro rata distribution," it outlines principles for equitable and transparent asset return.

Stolen Asset Recovery Initiative (STAR): A World Bank and UNODC partnership, STAR assists countries in recovering stolen assets, offering technical assistance and promoting best practices like transparent distribution mechanisms. It propounds the principle of equitable compensation based on individual claims.

5. Relevant Case Laws for Restoration of Defrauded Money:

5.1 Indian Case Laws:

a) In the case Committee of Creditors of Essar Steel India Ltd. Vs. Satish Kumar Gupta [Civil Appeal Nos. 8766–67 of 2019], the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in its judgment dated 15.11.2019, addressed the legality of the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal's (NCLAT) direction that the resolution plan must distribute funds equally on a pro rata basis to all creditors—financial and operational—without distinction. The case arose during the corporate insolvency resolution process (CIRP) of Essar Steel India Ltd., where the NCLAT had modified the approved resolution plan to enforce equal distribution among all creditor classes, thereby overriding the commercial wisdom of the Committee of Creditors (COC). The Hon'ble Supreme Court held that pro rata distribution is a relevant mechanism in certain contexts, especially where no class of creditors has a superior right under law.

b) In The State of Maharashtra vs. 63 Moons Technologies Ltd. [Civil Appeal Nos. 2748–49 of 2022], the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in its judgment dated April 22, 2022, dealt with the aftermath of the collapse of the National Spot Exchange Limited (NSEL), where thousands of investors collectively lost over ₹5,600 crore in a large-scale commodity trading fraud. In an attempt to recover losses and compensate victims, the State of Maharashtra attached assets, including those belonging to 63 Moons Technologies Ltd., the parent company of NSEL. The core issue before the Court was whether the recovered assets should be distributed equally or on a pro rata basis among the defrauded investors. The Hon'ble Supreme Court upheld the principle of pro rata distribution, holding that all investors were equally placed as victims of fraud and that equitable treatment demanded proportionate allocation based on verified claims.

c) In V.S. Rethinakumari vs. S.R. Ratheesh and Ors [CRM (MD) No. 2518 of 2024], the Hon'ble Madras High Court, in its judgment dated 03.02.2025, dealt with the distribution of sale proceeds from properties attached by the State of Tamil Nadu in the context of multiple criminal complaints alleging cheating. The attached assets were subject to competing claims from defrauded depositors, Tamil Nadu Mercantile Bank as a secured creditor, and private decree-holders. The central issue was how to equitably distribute the limited sale proceeds among these varied claimants. The Court held that where multiple parties have valid claims over a finite set of assets, the principle of equitable and proportionate (pro rata) distribution must be followed. This ensures that no single class of claimant disproportionately benefits to the detriment of others, and all eligible stakeholders receive a fair share based on the nature and value of their verified claims.

d) In Nadir Ali Barqa Zaidi and Ors vs. State of U.P. (Allahabad High Court), the case arose from an investment scam where the accused defrauded the public by making false promises of high returns and collected large sums of money. Upon investigation, funds were recovered from the bank account of the entity "Bharat Helpers." The key issue was how to distribute the recovered amount among the affected investors. The Court directed that the distribution should follow the pro rata principle, ensuring that all genuine victims of the fraud received a proportionate share of the recovered funds based on their verified claims.

5.2 International Case Laws:

a) Proposed Strategy for Bankman-Fried's Victims – Remission Over Restitution

In this case, given the complexity and scale of the fraud, the government proposed compensating victims through a remission process rather than traditional restitution. This approach involves distributing forfeited assets to victims based on their losses, ensuring a fair and efficient compensation process. The government argued that this method would be more practical and equitable, considering the large number of victims involved.

b) United States v. Yalincak – Hybrid Restitution Orders

In this case, the court addressed a complex fraud scheme with multiple defendants and victims. The court employed a "hybrid restitution order," combining joint and several liability with apportionment based on each defendant's role. This approach ensured that victims received compensation proportional to their losses, even when multiple defendants were involved. The court emphasized that while each defendant could be held liable for the full amount, the victim's total recovery would not exceed the actual loss.

c) Nepal: Swift Recovery of Stolen Funds:

In a significant case, Nepal's Financial Intelligence Unit (FIU) collaborated with international counterparts to recover 85% of funds stolen through a cyberattack on a bank. The swift action involved freezing accounts and tracing the stolen money across various jurisdictions. Victims received compensation based on the amounts they lost, demonstrating a pro-rata approach to asset distribution.

d) Caritas Ponzi Scheme (Romania):

In the 1990s, Caritas, a Ponzi scheme in Romania, attracted millions of depositors, amassing between $1 billion and $5 billion before collapsing in 1994. The scheme's founder was sentenced to prison, but the restitution process was prolonged and complex, with many victims receiving only partial compensation. The case highlighted challenges in compensating large numbers of victims in developing economies.

These cases demonstrate the complexities and challenges involved in compensating victims of financial frauds through pro-rata distribution methods. While some victims have received full restitution, others have faced prolonged legal battles and partial compensation. The effectiveness of such compensation efforts often depends on the legal frameworks, recovery of assets, and the efficiency of the administering bodies.

e) Bernie Madoff Ponzi Scheme (USA):

Bernie Madoff orchestrated the largest Ponzi scheme in history, defrauding investors of approximately $65 billion. Following her arrest in 2008 and subsequent death in 2021, the U.S. Department of Justice established the Madoff Victim Fund to compensate victims. By the end of 2024, over $4.3 billion had been distributed to more than 40,000 claimants across 127 countries, representing 93.7% of their losses. This compensation was sourced from settlements with involved parties, including JPMorgan Chase and the estate of Jeffrey Picower.

Illustrations and Scenarios during Interim custody

Illustration 1: Multiple Complaints - Attribution Possible

In this case, an account receives multiple credits of A, B and C, a disputed amount of Rs 97,000, Rs 58,000, followed by an equivalent debit of Rs 97,000, and Rs 50,000, and multiple complaints on NCRP. Also, after the last credit of 1,50,000, thereafter, seizure was initiated against the disputed amount under S.106 BNSS through Police Notice or Bank FRM Alert, and no subsequent debits were observed.

When the complaint was received from B, at that time, the balance available was Rs 1,58,873. Bank marks a provisional hold of an amount of Rs 58,000 against a Rs 58,000 disputed transaction and updates the hold amount on the Portal.

Further, when the complaint is received from A, at that time, the balance available was Rs 1,00,873. Bank marks a provisional hold of an amount of Rs 97,000 against a Rs 97,000 disputed transaction and updates the hold amount on the Portal. Similarly, for C also.

But it is attributable in this case that the money of A and B has been withdrawn, and the money pertaining to C is not debited.

Conclusion: In this case, after analysing the transaction date and time stamp, and the sequence of debits and credits, the genuine victim(s) can be ascertained. And accordingly, money can be restored to her.

Illustration 2: Multiple Complaints reported against a given mule account, where Attribution is not possible: Pro-rata restoration

In this case, an account receives multiple continuous credits of V, W, X, Y, and Z, followed by a partial debit of Rs 47,226 and multiple complaints on NCRP. Also, after the last debit of Rs 47,226, there was an action of seizure on the account due to a Police Notice or Bank FRM Alert, and no subsequent debits were observed. The available Balance was 2,06,543.

Now, when the complaints are received in order as X, V, Y, Z, W, then the provisional hold is marked in the account as per the balance available till the available amount balance is consumed.

Conclusion: Since in this case money gets commingled and a partial debit takes place, and owing to money mixing, attribution to the actual victim(s) is not possible. Therefore, the interim custody is released on a pro rata basis.
